LIVING IN FLORIDA

As I told you in the last Swope News, my family and I lived in Florida during the four years of World War II. Leaving Indiana with my children, ages 3 and 7, was quite traumatic. Guy had already taken his position at Buckingham Air Field in Ft Meyers, so Cooksey drove us down in our old 39 Chevy. I remember we had to stop at Ft. McPherson, Atlanta, to get much needed gas stamps.

When we reached Florida, I tried to explain to the children the changing scenery. "That's Spanish moss", I said pointing to the grey bearded stuff draped over the limbs. "I know all about it", three year old don piped proudly, "my doctor told me all about it when I was born!"

We lived happily for a while in an old two story house with Mango trees in the back and a coconut tree in front. Since it leaned, Gyanne and Don had fun trying to climb it, but they couldn't get very far up.

One day Don came running in from playing. "Mommy" he exclaimed, "I almost caught the prettiest snake, but it got away." Eventually the "pretty snake" was caught and killed, a deadly Coral Snake!

We experienced our one and only hurricane. It was before hurricanes were given names. Guy had to stay at the fort on duty. Schools were dismissed, so Gyanne came home, already in the rain. Following directions, we filled our bath tub with water, and got out candles. Wind screeched and rain drove in parallel sheets, trees groaned and bent (our neighbors tree fell), power went out. During the night, there was a knock at the door. It was the lady and her baby who lived in the garage apartment in back of us. "I thought we were going to be blown away", she said tearfully. "Can we stay with you?"

So the two of us sat up, watched and listened through the night while our children slept peacefully in their beds. Next morning we waded in water assessing the damage. A few trees were down and there was debris everywhere. But we were safe and dry.

Since teachers were in demand, I volunteered. I was assigned to a three room school out in the country, I took Don with me and believe it or not, he sat quietly enjoying the company of the little pretty blond girl who sat in front of him. Once I ask a little boy why he wasn't working on his numbers like the rest of the class. "I hain't got nary no pencil," he explained. So much for teaching grammar!

We three teachers ate our lunches (brought from home) sitting in the yard watching children play. We pulled grapefruit from the trees around us. They were sweet and delicious.

One year I was Gyanne's room mother. For a special occasion I wanted to serve orange juice and cookies(home made of course). We had no electric juicer, so I squeezed dozens of oranges by hand! I proudly served orange juice and cookies to some 25 or 30 students, and Gyanne was pleased!

Though gas was rationed, we managed to visit most of the tourist attractions still open during the four years and enjoyed an occasional visit to the Ft. Myers beach. Once Don waded out over his head but, Gyanne pulled him up by the hair, thus avoiding a near tragedy.

When our landlord decided to sell our house, we moved on to the base in a "two wide". We shared bath room facilities with other army personnel, but we got used to it. After all, we could smell the orange blossoms from near by trees!

We had the same privileges as army personnel, so we shopped at the PX, ate at the base, and Guy and I attended dances and other functions. Gyanne remembers a magicians show where she was asked to pull a white rabbit out of a hat!

It was all new and exciting and in spite of the war, it was the most enjoyable years of my life!

HELLO FROM TEXAS!

We have had some strange weather down here this year. Yesterday there was a foot of snow in Amarillo! Can you believe that? At spring break the kids are playing in the snow instead of the surf?

All the flowers are blooming and the trees are budding out. My Swope Irises are blooming. (These I was able to save from the ol' Swope home place that the air port took over at the end of Swope Lane in McCutchanville." We have had temps in the 80's already and we have had lots of rain, but not much in freezing weather. What a strange winter.

Tim, Liz and Sheadon have moved back to Texas from Virginia. Tim is now recruiting for the Army in Richardson, near Dallas. We are glad to have them home, but they still seem so far away.

Karen, Megan, Will (my sister and her kids) and Dad (Paul Swope) are making plans to come down after school lets out. Will is planning to spend part of the summer with us. We sure enjoy having both here, but Megan is a teenager and has too many plans on her social calendar to come spend the summer with us. We will have fun with Will here.

My web page business is taking off. I seem to be acquiring more clients and most of it has been through word-of-mouth. I'm too the point of setting up some advertising and I'm finding that to be very expensive. I love being at home working and having a flexible schedule.

The first weekend of April I will be hauling over to Alabama to ride in the McCurdy Horse Association Trail Ride. They have two a year and I am looking forward to going. I've missed a couple while I was working at the college.

I guess I'm getting long winded here. I am planning on being at the reunion in July and I hope to see each of you there.

Paula Sue

News from NEIL MCCUTCHAN FAMILY

The hurricane recovery here in Florida continues even though it is over six months since Charley hit. Our fence that was blown down is almost completely back up. We have the gate and one short panel to put up. We need the help of Allen which is only available on the weekends. Hopefully we'll have it all done in a week.

There are two big events that will be happening to our family this spring/summer. The first is that Allen is being activated for duty in Afghanistan. He is one of about 1200 FLArmy Guard being mobilized. All of the National Guard troops here in Polk County are being activated. The last of this month they will depart for Camp Shelby, MS (near Hattisburg). They will train there for about three months. Then they will be in Afghanistan for twelve months. There is a lot of leg and paper work that is involved in all of this. The unit will be tasked to protect/train the local armies in country. It may mean deployment to various small bases. Keep them in your thoughts.

The second event that will be happening is that Judy and I will be going back out to Yellowstone for the first part of the season. We will be out there from 18 May through the end of July. We'll be working at the same place as we did the previous years, Tower Fall. Judy will be down at the store as a cashier and I will be a cook at the employee dining room. I sent an e-mail to the 'head' cook this past winter, after we decided to return, and asked if she thought she would like me to return. She said that there sure would be a place as cooks are hard to find. She helped at Tower quite often last year I understand.

Other wise Judy and I continue to be busy with church, Eastern Star, subbing and me teaching again. Judy manages to sub an average of 4 days a week. She subs mostly in special education rooms (autistic, handicapped, etc.). I started teaching again at Keiser College, small business college in Lakeland. I've taught public speaking three sessions this past year. The schedule is 'tight,' three days a week; four hours a day; for four weeks. The students have to deliver three prepared speeches and two impromptu. That means they have to work rather hard. The least I've had in class was eight and the most fifteen.

Wishing everyone well.

Judy and Neil McCutchan

FROM GYANNE GERMANO SMITH

Mother, Anne Isabel is having minor surgery on her upper lip March 17 (basal cell skin cancer). Charlie and I will drive up from Jacksonville to be with her.

She will be celebrating her 97th birthday April 18! I will be 70 on my April birthday! Can you believe? I know I can't.

I have been busy coordinating an art exhibit for my watercolor group at a local gallery. We are calling it "Worlds of Watercolor". There are 13 artists participating. I will have 5 works in the show.

Other family news: Granddaughter Sarah Meahl (15) won the top honor at a dance competition in Daytona and was named "Miss Global Dance". Among other things she has been in a video for the Siemens Medical Corp., acted in a musical video for "Spill Canvas", and been in commercials for Disney Cruise Lines and Disney Vacation Club. She's a talented girl! Maybe she takes some of her acting ability from Charlie, her Granddad.

Though officially retired, Charlie still does some Voiceovers and a few commercials. When SuperBowl Sunday was in Jacksonville, he portrayed Ben Franklin to welcome the Philly fans to a pre game affair.

My brother, Don and Sara Mac are going to Italy again in April. Don has taken Italian lessons for several years now so enjoys being able to use the language there. They have located some of our relatives in the area of Pozzeco where our dad, Guy Germano was born. Unfortunately, we never learned Italian from him as he never spoke it at home. He did teach Spanish but I didn't even do a good job of learning that.

Our grandson, Joshua, who graduates from high school this year, has been accepted to the Albany School of Pharmacy in N.Y. He will get a scholarship from Walgreens (where he's worked in the pharmacy dept. for a couple years.) He is also a leader in his youth group. Other grandson, Ben, 12, is doing well in Middle School and plays trumpet in the school band.

Daughters, Cindy and Kelly and husbands are doing well and staying too busy with all their responsibilities. Kelly and Rick have bought a new home in Orlando but can't move in until June.

Hope all of you are doing OK. Wish I could see all you cousins!

Love , Gyanne

NEWS FROM TAMMY WHITE

...aka Ray France's daughter.

My granddaughter Hannah McStay just turned a year old on February 21.

My boyfriend Bill and I went out to Indiana to see my parents last Thursday. We had a good time. We visited Brenda McCandless and her husband Brad on Saturday. Easter Sunday, there was a house full of company. My Aunt Evelyn Evans, my sister Tanya and her children, Dawn Marie and Eric, my brother David's kids, Mary and Josh, my mom's neighbors Everett and Denise Vaughn, my brother Kerry, my parents and Bill and I had a scrumptious turkey dinner with all the trimmings. We left on Tuesday.

HI, TO ALL!

It's a beautiful time to be in McCutchanville. I took a walk in the woods and the purple trillium, bluebells and wild phlox are in bloom and the hillsides are awash with violets of purple, white and yellow. Redbud trees and yellow forsythia are out so dogwood winter can't be far behind ... so keep that sweater handy.

Some excitement in my life .. a bit more than I expected the day I got my dog "Tuffy". While walking him on a short leash, he spotted our cat "Oz" and took off without me! The cat climbed a tree 30 ft. away ... but the dog, feeling free, kept going across the valley and up the hill to explore new territory. I was screaming his name... he was checking out 4 backdoor neighbors yards and even chased a truck and stopped traffic on busy Petersburg Road ... before a friend caught him. What relief! We got a car ride home to Whetstone road ... I needed it after that Chase. "Tuffy" sure had a FUN day!

HI FAMILY AND FRIENDS.

It's been a fun last two months with oldest daughter (Becky) first week in March and our youngest daughter Maribeth with husband Jay and Grant and Faith the last part of March and into April. Spring Break. Had a wonderful time with them.

We are the proud Great Grandparents of little Julia Mae, born on the 30th of March - just missed her Great Grandpa's birthday which was on the 27th. Becky's oldest son David and wife Alison. Julia Mae weighed in at 8 lb 4 oz and was 20 inches long.

We went to the west coast to hear Levi our Grandson with the Purdue Glee Club sing. They sang in three different churches. Each time a different program. They did a wonderful job representing Purdue University. We got to visit and have lunch with one of Ross' Co=harts that he worked with in Farm Bureau. Spent some time with Darrel and Wilma Roach that we were friends with and had attended Blue Grass Church and then spent some time with Bert and Tom Pugh lots of you know.

We are still repairing damages in our park sustained from the Hurricane. Lots of people still without homes.

Rest of our family are doing as we hope you all are, too.

We are planning to leave Fl. the last of April - back home and to the Farm.

Wishing you all well.

Love Mae and Ross

FROM PAUL

Not a lot different going on here. The only thing different is I went to the internet and found me a new live-in partner. Her name is Angel; she is a year and a half old Rat Terrier. I should have gone for an older one, she is too much pup, but she looked cute.

We have moved into our new church, but still a lot of moving and putting things together to be done. Seems there is always work to be done. We have a new sound and video system that we are trying to learn. I run the computer slide show for the service.

There is a McCutchanville School reunion coming up Saturday June 25th. Those of you that went to McCutchanville School should try and attend. The last one we had was in 2003 and we had 170 people at that one. There is a web page about it if you are interested. It comes up on Google if you look for it.

I am also involved in a 1946 Reitz High School reunion coming up Saturday October 1st. We have been having that reunion yearly.

All of this and the Coast Guard Auxiliary seems to keep me busy. Don't know how I ever had time to work.

Well I have rambled enough.

Paul Swope

HELLO EVERYONE

It's been a while since I've written, and I could use a hectic life as an excuse -- but I won't.

I continue to work part-time for a local Deaf organization and am progressing in my American Sign Language classes. It's such a beautiful language. The hardest part is being expressive facially. I've spent so many years as a journalist making sure no one could see what I thought or felt. Now, it's got to be all over the place! What a difference. The grammar is a lot different than English, too. Sentence structure, context, etc., requires me to think conceptually and not at all English.

I'm also continuing my college studies. I took four classes this semester -- including the grueling math class in which I use a calculator with way too many buttons that can actually add, subtract and divide letters! I was never a math genius (or any other kind of genius), so it's been a lot of work for me. Surprisingly, I'm doing better than I expected. I'm also taking two sociology classes and one on ethics. What am I doing it for? Who knows. The BA will be in liberal arts, but I haven't decided what to do when I grow up. (Don't laugh kids!!!!)

As if I didn't have enough going on in my life, I decided to take up jewelry making. First, I started with beading, making earrings for everyone I knew. Then I moved to necklaces. Simple things that led to a class where I've learned to make more complex necklaces. In May, I'll be taking PMC, which is precious metal clay. PMC, developed in the 1990s, is a "combination of binders and metal particles to create a material with the working properties of modeling clay." That's about all I know now except that when the clay is fired, the result is a piece of work that looks like silver or gold. I'm looking forward to learning that. My goal with all the jewelry is to build up a good base and sell it by the fall. I hope to have a web site as well as going to several shows here. My 2006, I hope to have my work compete in a juried show. I'm already planning to do a beaded denim jacket. We'll see if I get there.

We recently took a quick trip to Florida to check in on Victor's Aunt Addie, who recently had surgery. She a wonderfully feisty lady who was a bit slower but didn't back off of baking her homemade carrot and pound cakes. We trimmed lemon and orange trees for her and weeded her flower beds. It was good to see her and to help her out. On the way back, we stopped at the Smithsonian and enjoyed the Rembrandt exhibit as well as a newly opened exhibit on the portraits of the early presidents. We stopped in the new Museum of the American Indian, but I was disappointed. Seems too surface and too commercial. I'll give it another try before discounting it too much. If you haven't been, plan a trip to D.C. for nothing except to go through the museums.

The trip was nice, but we had sad news when we arrived home. Two of Victor's uncles died (one from each side of the family). Uncle Ted had lung cancer, but died much earlier than expected. Uncle Mike, just 53 years old, died in his sleep from a bad heart that no one knew about. Makes you stop and think more about family and missed opportunities.

On to happier moments. Just got a confirmation that my much older, and less wiser sister will be flying into the big city of Philadelphia to ride the train with us into New York City to watch Sarah accept her master's degree in education! Wow! A Sosbe child does well!!!! Laura will be flying in as well, so it feels like a great mini family reunion. Sarah will no doubt walk us all over the Bronx and Manhattan. We'll celebrate with dinner, possibly see a Broadway play and absolutely laugh hysterically at Aunt Mary as she clings to one of us out of fear for her life. Imagine going from the cowtown of Frenchtown with it's one post office, one gas station and three bars to New York City!!! Her first cab ride alone with cause her to age considerably -- well, even more than she is now! (Love ya, sis.)

My two daughters continue to be a great inspiration to me. Laura (named after my Grandma Laura Swope McCutchan) works hard in Colorado Springs and brings me to tears with her sense of humor. I miss her terribly and wish she would just succumb to moving in with or at least near me and hanging out with an old lady. Same for Sarah. She's closer but nonetheless too far to just drop by for dinner or go shopping with me. I truly miss that. I wish I could turn back the clock.

I continue to look forward to these newsletters. As I grow older, I so ache to once again be with Grandma and Grandpa in their kitchen eating cookies. That was about the only time I remember being really happy -- and loved -- as a child. I wish my daughters knew them.

Everyone take care

Kath

GLACKMAN

Not much to report from the Glackman home place. Guess we're getting old, but we don't do very many exciting or noteworthy things anymore.

We go to the YMCA three afternoons a week, Gene to work out and walk on the track while I go to the pool for an aquajoints class to help my arthritis.

Gene isn't flying as much because the Dr. he flew for sold his airplane. He still manages to fly every week but doesn't get compensated for it.

We're looking forward to May when our granddaughter Eva (Grant's) is getting married to Mark Bapst. It will be the first time in several years when all our family will be together. All pray for good weather on the 15th of May because the wedding is to be outdoors.

Nancy

HI EVERYBODY

Megan, Will and I are doing fine.

My job is doing great. I love it. I work at CMC in downtown Evansville as a customer service representative. It seems to be a good company to work for. I earn two weeks vacation when I am there six months, which will be the end of May. I already have a week planned to go to Texas with Dad, Megan and Will to go down and visit Paula. I haven't been back down there since I moved back up to Indiana. I'm pretty excited about it. We are going to leave Will in Texas to visit awhile and Paula will bring him back when she comes for the family reunion in July.

Speaking of the family reunion...I will be giving up my company picnic, which has been scheduled for the same day, in order to be there. CMC has their company picnic at Holiday World, and my immediate family all get in free for that day. Are you willing to give up other plans in order to visit with family for just a few hours? Hopefully you are. It would be nice to see a big crowd of family there this year.

Megan is still excelling in school. We just found out recently that she is one of the top five people in the freshman class at Central High School. Of course I am a proud mom and she gets a little upset when I brag on her but.... oh well!! Lol She has two mission trips planned for this summer with two different church youth groups. Right now she is on the technical crew for the play at school. She has started babysitting. She will also be going to the Central Marching Band camp this summer. Busy girl.

Will is getting into skateboarding. He is also hooked on the computer game "Star Craft". He plays in online with buddies. Between him and Megan I barely get computer time!

I guess that is about it for now. Until next time... hope everyone stays well and happy.
Karen, Will and Megan

SOSBE

Has my sister (Sarah Sosbe) sent you anything? I can if she doesn't; she's graduating from Fordham University on May 21st with a Master's degree in Education. Myself, my mom (Kathryn Sosbe) and my aunt (Mary Kramer) are all going to NYC to be with her for her graduation!
Laura Martin

PHILADELPHIA GLACKMAN'S

Hi Paul - I am on sabbatical this year and have been doing many interesting things. (Most space related!) Ted and I have also traveled for conferences to New Mexico and Washington DC. I presented at a Space Educators' Conference at Johnson Space Center in February. Next week, I will be flying down to Cape Canaveral on an Air Force C-130 with a group of teachers from this area. We will tour around and participate in an educator's workshop during our 4 days there.

Our grandson, Izzy, is almost one year old - his birthday is May 5th. He is adorable and very good-natured. (I am sounding just like a grandmother!)

Ted has been appointed to the Board of the Pennsylvania Prison Society which is a prisoners' rights organization. Jake is cooking at one of Philly's finest restaurants (we can't afford to eat there!)

We are looking forward to Eva's wedding next month.
Penny
